Dear colleagues and members of the ICB,

Today, 21st September 2012, it is celebrated the International Day of Peace, under the catchword "Sustainable peace for a sustainable future".

The General Secretary of United Nations has sent all the citizens of the World a warm message of invocation of the peace.

We, as members of the ICB, we feel ourselves called to join this call for the sustainable peace whose end, must be, a sustainable future. We defend the human rights, actively participate in the fight for their preservation and extension, also, in our planet, The Earth.

The invitation of the General Secretary of United Nations we do not ignore it, we have never ignored it, but on the contrary, we boost the maintenance of the peace, today hardly disturbed in many countries as happens in martyred Syria, Mali, South Sudan, Colombia, Libya, Congo, Afghanistan and so and so places on Earth. We must accomplish with our task and support, as we have been done, the International Criminal Court and discuss to the extent necessary our identity as International Criminal Bar.

As Spanish and Spanish who has suffered a bloody civil war and a no less bloody postwar, I must remember the words that, when we felt the struggle was arriving, pronounced Manuel Azaña, President of the Spanish Republic, when he asked to all: "Peace, piety, forgiveness".

Peace to all of you and a fraternal hug,

Luis del Castillo Aragón

POEM

World Poetry Day, 2012

Peace is what the world needs fast
Peace is required most
Peace can't come by waging wars
Peace is born through great efforts!

Peace can dwell when love prevails
Peace is the driving force
Peace must last forever to
Keep the world love life firstly
