

OBAMA'S BIRTH CERTIFICATE

Take a Closer Look at the Obama Long Form Birth Certificate And Then Ask ... "Why Hasn't our Congress Taken a Closer Look?"

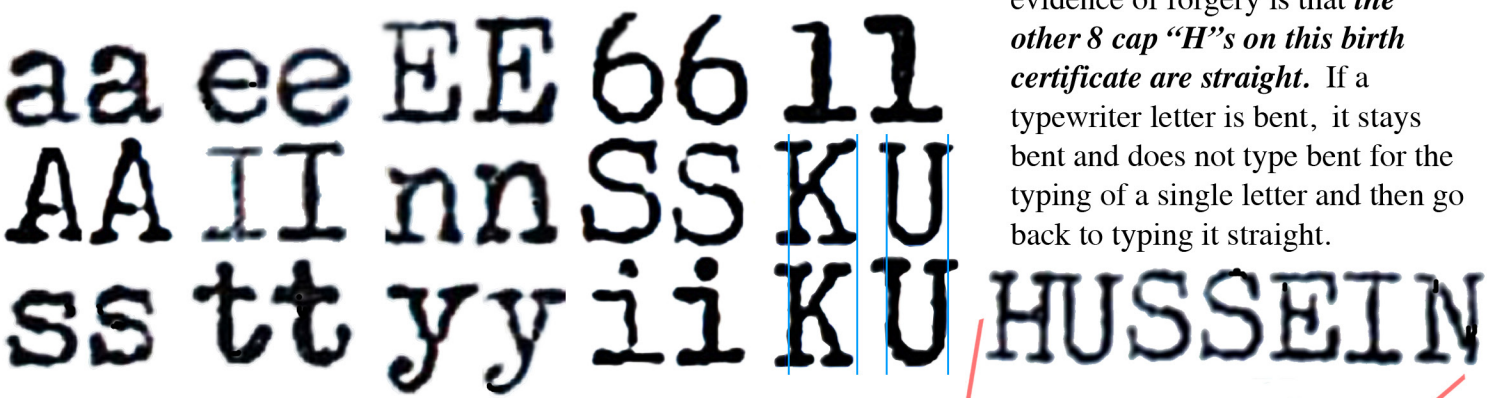

The important portion of the Obama long form birth certificate is displayed below and enlarged to fit this page. We are two very experienced typographers who have found 20 proofs of forgery on this document so far. We are showing 7 areas of our easiest to understand evidence here. We found this birth certificate to be a badly done forgery and we are now halfway through a book on the subject.

Allegedly in 1961, a typewriter produced this document on a form. Last year we went to Hawaii with attorney Orly Taitz with a subpoena to examine that original. The dept. of health there refused to let us examine it, claiming “privacy” rights. The evidence shows us that the document was created last year on a computer using a Macintosh and sending two copies of that to the White House.

The White house gave copies to the Media and that is the source for our exam. We reconize that forensic document examiners should be involved in this. Our group attempted to employ over 200 of the 2,000 certified forensic document examiners in this country. All of them refused to even look at or discuss the Obama birth certificate. Excuses given were ... “I do work for the government” or “I support Obama.”

1. Miss-Matched Typed Letters

Compare these typewriter letters enlarged from the birth certificate. We have marked the ones chosen with a blue dot under the original letter. Among the 15 pairs chosen, one set is from the word “Student” that exhibits two different styles of the “t” in the same word. This supports our contention that the typed letters were copied and assembled from different documents. Note the size and shape differences. These letters could not have come from the same typewriter. This is proof of forgery.

2. The Bent Cap “H”

We have enlarged the name “HUSSEIN” below to point out the bent cap “H”. It is not unusual for typewriter letters to be bent. They are often bent when the typist gets 2 keys stuck together and must pull them apart. The reason this is evidence of forgery is that the other 8 cap “H”s on this birth certificate are straight. If a typewriter letter is bent, it stays bent and does not type bent for the typing of a single letter and then go back to typing it straight.

3. The Certificate Number

If someone decided last year to forge a birth certificate for a person, they would need a birth certificate number that is genuine and was issued in the 1961 era. A baby that was born the same day in Hawaii as Barack Obama ... died the next day. We believe that babies number was 61 10641. We asked the mother to request her birth certificate and they gave her the short form with a number way out of sequence for the month. So she asked for the long form and was refused. The family brought a lawsuit before the Hawaiian courts and were denied, explaining that the Honolulu Dept. of Health could decide if they wanted to provide the birth certificate of the deceased baby to the mother or not.

4. The Start of Line Error

The word “Kapiolani” should be exactly under the word “Male”, not a half space indented. Also the fact that not all the lines are flush to the left is suspicious. No other birth certificate exhibits this peculiar style.

5. Irregular Line Spacing

This birth certificate form was designed for typewriters, so that every time the typist pulled a carriage return, it would advance down 2 picas exactly to match the form line for line. This was common to all forms made for typewriters. We were unable to find another birth certificate from Hawaii with uneven line spacing like this one. Typewriters do not do this.

7. The White Halo

The white halo, seen on the online White House release is a white outline around everything on the birth certificate. No other birth certificate has this. See it on Exhibit “A” below & Exhibit “B” showing how it should look. This was caused by the Adobe Photoshop filter used to sharpen edges. It does this by choking back the edge leaving a white halo. We show in Exhibit “C” how we did the same thing to our specimen example. This proves forgery because the Hawaiian Dept. of Health is supposed to have put the original birth certificate on a copier and printed to the special green security paper instead of white paper. The only result possible from that is Exhibit “B” ... NOT exhibit “A”. The halo proves that the forger combined a scan of the security paper on a computer ... flattened all of the elements in the file and then applied the Unsharp Mask. It is even on the birth certificate above ... see upper left corner. Since this is a direct copy of the birth cert. sent from Hawaii ... that proves the white halo was on what they copied, so we must assume the Hawaiian original has it also.

6. Irregular Letter Spacing

The original locations of the two-letter combinations below are marked with a blue outline. These are just some of the combinations that vary in the space between the letters. These spaces should be equal, not different, since the old mono-spaced typewriters always moved a specific space after a letter was typed. We feel that the forger, assembling these letters manually on a computer could not replicate the exact spacing that the old style mechanical typewriters produced. This is proof of forgery.
