Taitz: “I feel vindicated healthcare.gov could not confirm his (Obama) identity.

By Paul Preston, New StreaMedia News

On Paul Preston’s Agenda 21 Radio Dr. Orly Taitz today Orly Taitz expressed her complete joy at being vindicated by the Obama administration when it was reported by FOX News Ed Henry that healthcare.gov could not verify his (Obama’s) identity when they went to sign up the resident foe ObamaCare. See the video below:
•From Fox News’ Ed Henry, via GWP:

“We learned today from the White House. Initially, they said he signed up for what they called a bronze plan, paying about four hundred dollars a month in premiums. But, then they came back to us and said – Wait, he didn’t actually enroll. They said his staff did it and that’s because of his unique circumstance as Commander in Chief. That his personal information is not in particular government data bases. So healthcare.gov could not actually verify his identity, oddly enough... So his staff did it.”

If such theatrics were planned as such, they wouldn't have used that excuse. Too weird to PLAN a "POTUS not verifiable" excuse. Bizarrely, methinks this excuse is proof they did in fact try to enroll him via website.

Mmmm K...

The guy can't even be counted on to eat his own dog food. But, I don't think their lame excuse demonstrates any integrity, particularly at this late stage.

If he were truly committed to his fascist dicta he would have been one of the first to enroll.

That he is just now getting around to it and taking a plan that clearly doesn't provide the greatest coverage is indicative of his holier than psychosis.

There is something in Obasard's past that is so damning hat it would get him jailed or executed. Why else seal every record related to that POS?

The courts have systematically refused to consider every case regarding this issue except the one going on in Alabama presently. And even that is dicey at best not that it doesn't have merit, it that nobody can dislodge even the smallest nugget if information that would lead to further investigation. Even Sheriff Arpiao's investigators which determined that the Birth Certificate the White Hut put out was a forgery and yet, this gets short shrift in the democRAT media and the courts.

Interesting. I had a heart attack and was in hospital and gave my father written permission to act on my behalf in regards to auto insurance and health insurance. We were told that it had to be a blood relative and I had to send with my dad my birth certificate and he had to show them his. Because I was previously married, I also had to send him with my marriage certificate and separation decree.

It's amazing the stuff we have to provide lol

You better believe that Obambi, or at least his minions, attempted to sign up on the website, endlessly. Had they succeeded this would be sung in the highest headlines for days. The fact is, they failed. Having to admit, on the last possible day that his application had to be hand carried to the registration office is as bad as it can possibly get. Obamacare is a complete failure. The president, with all the resources of the entire US government, can't even sign up.

Obama just likes to tweak birthers. It's a joke to him. Nobody tried to sign him up for anything, least of all a bronze plan. I'm not sure he could sign up if he wanted to. He already has employer-provided health care.

I can't believe people think he actually tried to sign up for Obamacare. Well, I can see Orly Taitz believing this.

The interesting thing I read in one of the articles about this is that the wife and kids already have insurance. The obvious question is who are they getting insurance from?

As a sailor in the U.S. Navy, I have pretty good health coverage for me and my family. In fact, health care costs me nothing more than the gas money it takes to drive to a near-by naval hospital.

As Commander in Chief, President Obama most likely has the same type of health coverage for him and his family, --except way, way better.

I'm just making assumptions here, mind you, but I'd say it's a pretty safe bet that President Obama and his immediate family have about the best health care coverage that one could possibly get.

Yet people like Orly Taitz still want to believe he tried to sign up for a "Bronze Plan" and was rejected? Whatever... I'm sure if people click on Orly's "donate" button, she'll get to the bottom of this great mystery.

I think they're so dumb (obamaminions) that they thought this would "inspire" his stupid base to do as he has done and sign up—more PR than anything—believable because they think using a fag in jammies will inspire idiots to sign up as well. It just bit them in the butt, as so much does, these days.

“The president signed up for a ‘bronze’ plan via the Washington, D.C. exchange, according to a White House statement, but the action was described as “symbolic” and more a show of support from the president for his signature law than a substantive decision to obtain health coverage. The president will continue to receive health care through the military, the White House said.

Additionally, Obama did not sign himself up through Healthcare.gov or the D.C. exchange’s website — instead, aides signed him up in-person because of the “complicated nature of the president’s case,” the White House said, which includes the accessibility of his personal information on government databases used by the website.”

A number of people have given up hope that his identity will ever be verified, but this is weird.

He “signed up” but didn’t actually sign up because his information is not available on government databases? If any former presidents are reading this thread, please comment.

Highest probability IMO is that he attended college and received financial aid as a foreign student. All the evidence points to being a crappy student and he got accepted to some very good schools - easier to do that as a foreign minority student. Just my .02.

P.S. - claiming to be a foreign student would mean he committed fraud then if he was a U.S. citizen or he is committing fraud now if he was a foreign student.

Statute of limitations has expired on the college days, but he could still be disbarred if he tried to practice law and it would be plenty embarrassing to all involved.

Changing from my spouse of thirty one years employer based insurance to my union employer based plan required a raised seal marriage license and raised seal birth certificates for my children. I also had to supply certificates of credible coverage, and a cobra letter. All that had to be signed as witnessed by a company officer. That was for a blue cross blue shield plan.

There are no such requirements for odungocare exchanges. Something very wicked this way is coming. How hard will the push back be? I asked my employer why the burden? I was told it's the rules of the steel worker's union, which until my and subsequent future enrollees no such demands were made. It's a new thing.

If he attended U.S. universities as a foreign student, there would be evidence of him being issued F-1 Student Visas with multiple extensions through Harvard Law School.
